

People at Rushden

Our Rushden site is a vibrant and innovative laboratory committed to creating a positive working environment with dedication to quality, customer service and flexibility.

Like all parts of the Quotient group, we recognise it's our people who make us so successful, so we don't just look for professional experience and academic qualifications in our people.

We seek out positive attitudes, challenging and enquiring minds, outstanding communication skills, creative and innovative approaches to problems - all wrapped up with an entrepreneurial spirit.

We take training and development of our people seriously, not only using traditional courses and further education, but also knowledge sharing opportunities such as staff presentations, performance reviews, and on the job training.

On site facilities include:

- Free tea and coffee and other kitchen facilities
- Visiting sandwich van and vending machine in the staff room
- Book exchange
- Free Christmas party
- Improvements scheme
- Subsidised social events – including barbecues and quiz nights
- Celebrations of company success
